Harrell, Romanstine And Adams To Edit Freshman Edition Of Johnsonian

Wylie Named News Editor; Edition To Be Published November 22

Betty Harrell of Florence and Betty Romanstine of Columbia were elected editor and managing editor, respectively, of the freshman edition of The Johnsonian which will be published November 22, according to an announcement made by The Johnsonian editorial board. Marian Adams of Seneca was elected business manager.

These executives were chosen from a group of freshmen who submitted try-outs. Others named to positions are Bobbie Whitlock of Moncks Corner, sports editor; Nellie Wylie of Winthorpe, news editor; and Patsy Mays of Aiken, society editor.

Columnists for the freshman edition will be chosen Friday and announced later.

New Budget Is Proposed By Trustees

The Winthrop college board of trustees voted Monday to ask for an appropriation of $741,941 for the 1948-49 fiscal year, according to President Henry R. Sims.

The proposed budget for next year represents an increase of $206,941 over the current budget of $535,000.

Approved at a meeting on the campus, the proposed budget will be presented to the State budget commission late this year.

Members Attending

Governor Ransome J. Williams, ex-officio chairman, presided at the board meeting which was attended by 16 members. Those present at the meeting were C. L. Co. b, Rock Hill; John T. Roddey, Rock Hill; Mrs. Horace L. Tilghman, Marion; Mrs. Louise Y. Earle, Greenville; Mrs. N. Gist Gee, Greenwood; Mrs. P. B. Hendrix, Columbia; J. A. Spruill, Cheraw; John G. Dinkins, Manning; and James H. Hope, State Superintendent of Education.

Senior Order Members

Shown above with President Henry R. Sims are the 12 members of Senior Order, including the three new members who were elected last week. Seated on the steps, top to bottom are Betty Masters, Mary Stanley, Ella V. Goudelock, Mary Lay Ewing, and Bette Stribling. Doug Hill Orchestra To Play For Sadie Hawkins Formal In Dining Hall

Assembly Schedules Two Plays

Two plays will be presented in assembly on Tuesday, November 12, by the play producing class and Alpha Psi Omega. Miss Florence Mims, assistant professor of English, will direct both plays.

"Midnight Fantasy," a one-act play, is a miniature dialogue between the femme fatales of a century ago and the modern live age. Taking part will be Jean Carson Brown as the modern girl, and "Happy" Hance as the old-fashioned lady. Emily Baird is properties chairman, and Nancy Pittman and Mary Carson Tinney are in charge of lighting. Belvin Sease will furnish the music. This play is presented by Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity.

Second Play

"Lavender and Old Lace," also a one-act play, is staged by the play producing class as one of their projects in the course.

The characters are Agnes Watson, about 40, a lady who knows her own mind and thinks she knows other people's; June Smith; Minnie, the Watson's general factotum; Flora Odum; Cynthia, Agnes' daughter, about 18; Mary Dinkins; and Louise Robbins, Grandma, 75 today, and up to the present a lavender and old lace lady. Hilda Proctor, Grandma's friends are Annie Gilchrist, Florence Stahler; Lizzie Jones, Elizabeth McKelvie; Susan Perkins, Barbara Friedrichs; and Etta Brown, Argyri Dismorakis. Nancy Feindel is stage manager, and Mary Georgia Lewis is assistant stage manager and understudy. Sara Wright is in charge of costumes and make-up.

11 Students Initiated To Phi U Roles

Eleven new members were initiated into Phi U, national home economics fraternity, at a meeting held Monday, November 5, in the Phi U room in Thurmond hall, according to Adeline Vaughn, president.

Those initiated were Beth Burgess, Carolyn Murphy, Betty Wilks, Miriam Ballentine, Merle DeLoe, Mary Leila Carville, Florence Fairfax, Dorothy Graham, Galen Grier, Margaret Stribling, and Ann Washington. Miss Sarah Crawford, head of the home economics department, conducted the charge service.

After the initiation the new members were given a banquet at the Andrew Jackson hotel. The welcome was made by Helen Lofus, and Beth Burgess responded. Miss Crawford spoke on "What Phi U Means on the Campus," followed by a talk, "On Being an Alumnae" by Miss Frances Crouch, hostess of Brezelle hall.

Phi U members are selected on the basis of their professional work, attitude, leadership, and scholastic record.

Dancing Will Begin At 8:30 With Four No-Breaks Scheduled

Sadie Hawkins Autumn Ball, sponsored by the Student Government association, will open the 1948-49 dance season tomorrow night, November 9, from 8:30 until 11:45 in the Dining room with Doug Hill and his orchestra from Charlotte furnishing the music.

Dance committee chairman Billy Reddie announces intermission from 9:45 till 10:15 p. m. and four no-breaks during the evening. Refreshments will be served during intermission at various places in the dining room.

The Dance committee has set up some standards to improve the tone of Winthrop's formal dances. They are:

1. Boys will be required to wear coats with shirts and ties if they are not dressed in tux, tails, or uniform.

2. A receiving line will form at the North entrance of the Dining room, and all girls, with or without dates, are requested to introduce themselves and their escorts to the line.

3. Stages must stand back off the dance floor.

4. Girls and dates may go to the dormitory and to Main building parlors during intermission, but must not go upstairs or downstairs in Main building.

5. Containers for paper cups, etc. will be placed about the Dining room and everyone will be expected to use them.

The receiving line will consist of President and Mrs. Henry R. Sims, Mrs. Kate G. Hardin, dean of women, Dr. Dennis Martin, acting academic dean, and Billy Reddie, chairman of the Dance committee and her escort, W. E. Stowe, Jr.

Chaperones Chosen

Chaperones for the dance are Hampton Jarrell, Missa Beale Garrison, Katherine Pfohl, Ruth Roettinger, Julia Post, Dorothy Chamings, Margaret Gregg, Alice Tingley, Annie Dunn, Julia Weill, Louise Duls, and Mary McCown. Also Dr. Celeste Wine, Mrs. Dorothy Forsythe, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Terry, Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. Roberts, Mrs. Sarah Bird, Dr. Margaret Hess, and Mr. and Mrs. Polly Moore.

Team Elected Class Tresurer By Freshmen

Edna Team of amden was elected treasurer of the freshman class completing the four top officers of the freshmen at a meeting held Wednesday, October 30, according to Dot Smith, newly elected president of the freshman class.

Two cheerleaders, Myra Augury of Lynam, and Betty Hesse of Charleston, were elected at this meeting.

Leo Oswald of Columbia and Jane Gamble of Waxhaw, N. C., were elected permanent senators at a class meeting Monday night, November 4. Temporary senators were Kitty Lewis of Whitman, Betty Wood Moore and Martha Hewitt of Marion.

Joye Jenkins and Mary Lou Lewis, both of Charleston, were chosen dance committee members and began their duties this week in preparation for the coming formal.

Recital To Be Presented November 12

A "Student Recital of Music through the Classic Period" will be presented Tuesday, November 12, at 8:00 p. m. in the Conservatory of Music.

The program will include "Toccata in A Major" by Paradies, Ellen Gless; "Sonata No. 2 Presto" by Haydn, Marjorie Still; "Solve a miche" by Caladara and "Spesso vira e vibra" by Scarlatti, Leonora; "Ah mio coe" by Handel and "Che fiero costume" by Legrenzi, Sarah Major; "Sicilienne" by Bach-Maier, Marjorie Gentry and Anne Whitten, and "Now Comes the Gentiles' Savior" by Bach-Horn, Nancy Parham.

Other numbers to be given at this recital are "Come unto Him" from the "Messiah" by Handel, Ann McKnight; "Se tu m'ami, se sospiri" Pergolesi, Ann Gilliam; "Lord, I Call On Thee" and "Sonata A Major" by Scarlatti, Norma Wilcox; "Larghetto" from Concerto No. 7 by Handel, Betty Jean Gault; "Quanda corpus morietur" by Pergolesi, Wanda Truesdale and Melvinda Padgett, and concluding the program will be "Froude to the 6th Violin Sonata, E Major" by Bach-Katwijk, E. Nesline Willis.

Maurice, McKee Attend Club Meet

Father Maurice of Saint Anne's Catholic church in Rock Hill and Don McKee from Chapel Hill were present at the meeting of "The Gavel Club" on Tuesday evening, November 5, at 7 o'clock.

These men, both experts on labor-management problems, led the discussion and question period afterward. The discussion also centered around the query for future debates: Resolved: That labor should have a direct share in the management of industry.

The next meeting of "The Gavel Club" will be held on November 14.

Rat Day Skit To Be Given

One girl has been selected from each "Y" group to be in the freshman skits on the night of Rat Day, Wednesday, November 13. They are divided so as to furnish approximately seven skits, according to Dorothy Smith, president of the freshman class.

Those selected are Sarah Eleazer, Jane Embler, Jean Muldrow, Betty Ann Edwards, Ruth Williams, Doris McDaniel, Mary Emma Holub, Kitty Lewis, Mattie Mae Harris, Jacqueline Aiken, Carol Vaughn, Helen Roy Pridmore, Helen Mece, Carolyn Thompson, Dolores Tuk, Joan Quarles, and Barbara Galloway.

Others are Louise Kennedy, Mary Adair, Margaret King, Nan Bowers, Martha Saratt, Jean Dunlap, Alberta Lachette, Shirley Barkers, Betty Baskin Roddey, Imoene Watson, Mary Hoyt Timmerman, Mary Caroline Bruorion, Patricia Bowie, Margaret Rachel Ferguson, and Rita Ness.

Plans for the initiation of 22 new members who received bids to Brush and Palette, campus art club, were made at a meeting Tuesday, November 5 in the art lecture room.

The new members are Judy Morgan, Claudia Summers, Patricia Mays, Alice Gellis, June Jones, Ayliffe Jacobs, Lil Turner, Jo Ann Sloan, Jean Hyatt, and Sarah Eleazer. Other members are Martha Fennell, Marilyn McLaughlin, Margaretta Gaines, Ann Lewis, Theresa Ellis, Mary Ann Hilderbrand, Laurel Burrow, Helen Hubbard, Mary Frances Herbert, Marjorie Harrell, Marjorie Nix, and Katherine Vitsaras.

Ann Summers is the new social chairman, and Mary Ann Hilderbrand is the new poster chairman.

Alpha Kappa Delta Alumnae To Hold Meet In Gaffney

Four sociology majors and one faculty member received invitations to Alpha Kappa Delta, national sociology society, at a regular monthly meeting last Wednesday afternoon, November 6, according to an announcement by Dr. Allan D. Edwards, head of the sociology department.

Those who were invited are Mrs. Betsy Castleberry, of the sociology department, Katie Lou Johnson, Betty Jo Bailey, Alice Edwards, and Louise Head.

Sophs Elect Attendants

Betty Gray, Lillian Duke, Jean Hutto, and Vivian Burgess were elected 1947 May Queen, attendants by the sophomore class at a meeting this week. At press time yesterday the results of the May Queen election and the junior class attendants election were not known. The senior and freshmen class attendants will be chosen next week.

Winthrop Students Will Go To The Polls Monday To Cast Ballot For Or 'Agin' Uniforms

By HILDA PROCTOR

On Monday, November 11, polls will be opened in the post office for the purpose of voting on the uniform question. Each student will be able to express her views by her vote, and should take advantage of this opportunity to use her ballot wisely and for the benefit of the school.

Various discussion groups have been carried on in the dormitories, especially, and through the "Y" in preparation for the voting. In conducting a public opinion poll on the campus, students expressed their ideas most emphatically, and the opinions seem to be about equally divided. Girls are urged to "think it through" when they cast their vote for or against the navy and white next Monday.

Trekking through the "Grand Hotel" this week, your curious reporter cornered seniors Rachel Masters, Peggy Johnson, and Rosa Weinberg. Said Rachel, "I'm against uniforms; I believe a girl's college years are the time to learn to dress properly." Quick as a flash, Peggy retorted that she was against uniforms, too, "because they require us to buy two complete wardrobes each year." Rosa stopped the group temporarily by mentioning the fact that "many girls couldn't afford to come to Winthrop if uniforms were abolished, and the navy blue eliminates class individualism."

"Tubby" Britton stubbornly persisted that we continue with the "tradition," for uniforms are not only less trouble, but more economical. Also in favor of keeping uniforms were Mary Staples, Jean Lee, and Isabelle Ford who said that they kept all students on an "equal basis."

"Sitting on the fence" are Dorothy Proctor from Bancroft and Betty Blackwood. Also freshman Mary Galloway is already tired of wearing navy, but approves of uniforms in general "because they are democratic." From third floor South, Julie Schirmer and June Smith collaborated on a decision to keep Winthrop as it is, tired of wearing navy, but approves of uniforms in general "because they are democratic." From third floor South, Julie Schirmer and June Smith collaborated on a decision to keep Winthrop as it is, tired of wearing navy, but approves of uniforms in general "because they are democratic." From third floor South, Julie Schirmer and June Smith collaborated on a decision to keep Winthrop as it is, tired of wearing navy, but approves of uniforms in general "because they are democratic."

The Roddey girls towed the mark against us as "is," and Jennie Burgess, and Rita Ness led the opinions. Rachel Sellers wanted the campus to "get hip" to the economy of colors, and Sue Sligh ventured to say that "colors build morale."

What We Live By

The Johnsonian wants to deserve a reputation for accuracy, thoroughness, and fairness in covering the Winthrop college campus. You will do us a favor if you call our attention to any failure in measuring up to any of these fundamentals of good newspapering.

Casually

By MARY LAY EWING

This week saw falling leaves — red, orange, yellow, the true sign of autumn and approaching winter. The campus has been brightly adorned for over two weeks with blazing color. Even though we love a neat, clean campus, we still like to shuffle through leaves and see them deep on the ground. It is rather a shame they have to be cleared away so soon, for in their own way, these flaming leaves have a method of adding beauty to the campus.

Monday, November 11, Winthrop students will vote in the PO for or against the wearing of uniforms. In past years, not enough students voted, in some cases, only half. It is certainly the duty of every student to care enough about her appearance to vote on a question as big as this.

In all fairness, this issue should be considered and debated intelligently before the students go to the polls. Every angle of the question should be brought to light. Vote!

Faculty Stunt Night Stars Again was a "howling success." Just praise goes to all those who participated in the annual event. Tri Beta members worked hard to make Faculty Stunt night a success — orchids to them.

The frosh are already beginning to thrill or chill over the thought of Rat Day, slated November 13. This day is a way of testing sportsmanship, and big things are expected from the freshman class along this line. Rat day will be a day of knowing what to expect from the class of '50 in future years, and will tell what stuff the frosh are made of!

The yelling sensation of the year occurs November 14, when the four classes gather in the amphitheater for the annual Pep Meet. One of the most anticipated events of the year, Pep Meet is the best way of boosting school spirit. Preceding the hockey tournament the following day, the purpose of the yell classic is to bring forth strong cheering for this event.

For years, Sadie Hawkins Day has been observed in the comic strip Lili Abner. The first formal of the year tomorrow night bears the title Sadie Hawkins Autumn Ball. Wouldn't it be fun if Winthrop would establish an annual Sadie Hawkins Day to be held every November? Campus comment seems to be in favor.

Following last Tuesday's community sing in assembly, was an all-over gay atmosphere. Students were humming "Carolina In The Morning" at the dinner tables, and expressing favorable opinions about Miss Pfaff and her directing, and Miss Hoyer's "All The Things You Are." President Sims' "This is getting better all the time" brought the house down, and general opinion seems to be in favor of more "Auld Lang Syne" songs. The whole program was tops!

BRIEFS

NAMED TO NEW OFFICE
Dr. Herman L. Frick, superintendent of Winthrop Training school, has been named director of teacher education and graduate study at Winthrop, officials of the College have announced.

VENABLE ATTENDS MEET
Dr. Austin L. Venable, head of the history department, returned Monday from Birmingham, Ala., where he attended a meeting of the Southern Historical Association. The meeting lasted from October 31 to November 2.

SGN Circus Rivals Barnum and Bailey On Halloween Night

Frosh Ready for Rat Day Horror

INDOOR PERFORMANCE RATED "TOPS"

Dear Campus Town Hall: The hardworking girls who put on the SGN circus last Saturday afternoon deserve an extra special word of praise for doing such a grand job in spite of the many difficulties which they encountered. Having to shift the performance from the athletic field to the gym was enough to cramp the style of even the clown, but judging from the enthusiastic reactions of the large crowd, the show was an outstanding success. The parade was good, the crowd was better, and the ring show was wonderful. We appreciate the efforts of all the people who helped to make the circus a "hit."

I am a freshman, and this is the first Winthrop circus I have seen. Many people say that it's the best yet, and if the future outdoor performances are better than the indoor one Saturday, we really have something to look forward to next fall.

Congratulations on a swell job!
Sincerely,
Betty Romanoskie

TIME TO STOP RIVALRY, SAYS RODDEY

Dear Campus Town Hall: Let it never be said of us that we don't like to have a good time. Where there's fun, we like to be, too.

But there are extremes. We are speaking, of course, of the Halloween episode between Roddey and Breazeale. We have to call it a fight, but we'll have to admit it was similar to something that might happen among angry, ten-year-old boys; but not at Winthrop and certainly not among the "fairest flowers." However, it has happened here, and the result is nothing we can do now except see that another such incident never re-occurs. Dormitory spirit is a good thing, but not to the extent that it overshadows class spirit. We are speaking from experience, because our class learned its lesson the hard way. It seems a shame that this year's freshmen who have such a promising and enthusiastic group, should use this enthusiasm destructively rather than constructively. We want to apologize for Roddey's behavior in the incident. We believe the girls just took their fun a little too far. Nobody minds "pie beds" and slippery door knobs, but when mischief gets out of hand and becomes anger and ill will, it's time to stop. College girls are certainly old enough to know when to stop.

So stick together, freshman class, and show Winthrop that you do have the right spirit.

Sincerely,
Lillian Adams
Dottie Austin
Belvin Sease
Frances Gamble

UPPERCLASSMEN LEEN AT NOVEMBER 19

Dear Campus Town Hall: I believe I am the first freshman when I say that we are looking forward to Rat Day. We don't resent being told to run errands, make up beds, and write letters, and we really anticipate all the "horrors" of that day. After all, initiation is to be expected when entering a college for the first time. Even those who are not in favor of the pranks played are always big-hearted sports about the affair, and I guess there is no one on the campus who enjoys a good laugh more than a freshman. We really will not let like true "Winnie Winthrop's" until Rat Day has come, and all the "mean old" upperclassmen have worked us over. It is true that we will probably welcome a nice soft bed by nightfall, but who cares! Our upperclassmen had to go through the same thing, and from all evidences they came out alive.

All of this leads to the main thought. We freshmen want to prove that we can be equally good sports as any one else, and that we are willing to prove our worth here at Winthrop. So come on, November 13!

Sincerely,
Jane Young

WC'S CROP IS GREEN THIS YEAR!

Did you hear about the freshmen who gave Mrs. Sims the third degree the other day when she was looking for a girl in Roddey? By mistake, Mrs. Sims got in the wrong room. The girls present asked her name, where she was from, and practically her life history—which Mrs. Sims graciously gave in full. It was quite a while before the "eager beavers" realized that they had been questioning Winthrop's own first lady.

NOW REALLY, AUDREY!

Caroline Moss, in a conversation recently, said: "My roommate thinks I've got a cat with a sense of humor. Someone told her I have a funny puns."

Autumn Ball Starts The Ball Rolling

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9, IS THE BIG DATE we've all waited for, for tomorrow night Winthrop launches its first formal of the year — the Sadie Hawkins Autumn Ball.

The highly anticipated event is aptly named Sadie Hawkins, for what place could use the name more suitably than Winthrop? Because this is the first formal of the year, it should start the ball rolling for bigger, better dances.

The Dance committee has done its part by providing music, decorations, refreshments, and chaperones, and it's up to us to see that conduct and dress are up to par.

The subject of conduct at Winthrop formals has been well aired. By now, every student should know courtesy rules and regulations regarding the dance. She should let her escort know that he, as well, as the students is expected to conform.

The dance is slated for a big let-down if dates come improperly dressed. The dance is formal, girls are expected to wear evening dresses, and dates are expected to dress accordingly. At many formals last year, boys came attired strictly in sport clothes. Those boys who wore tux, tails, and appropriate suits were disgusted with the minority of dates who were sloppily dressed.

It is up to the girls to inform their dates about formal attire, and to see that they come dressed apropos the dance.

The Wrong Kind of Tradition

HALLOWEEN NIGHT LAST THURSDAY night renewed an old tradition which has for years been predominant at Winthrop. The age-old feud between the freshman dormitories, Roddey and Breazeale, has been carried too far.

On Halloween night the two dorms were turned topsy-turvy by the frosh, who, it is said, literally "tore up the place." It is unacceptable that Halloween night is a night for pranks, but not a night for deliberate destruction.

The point is that Halloween night offered an outlet to revive an old feud, which should have been ended years ago. The fact that Roddey and Breazeale continue to remain rivals destroys freshman class spirit. It is acceptable that these two dormitories complete with each other on the up and up, but it's degrading when they carry competition to the extreme.

It is particularly discouraging to conduct a class meeting for the purpose of electing officers when one dormitory pulls for one contestant and vice-versa. Unity is the keynote to a successful election.

In the past, for example, it has been the custom that Roddey and Breazeale girls look down on each other, ignore each other, and remain aloof to each other throughout four years of College life. This in itself is inexcusable.

This malignant tradition can be killed if upperclassmen will refrain from bringing up the subject and exaggerating it to all proportions, to incoming frosh. Some competition is good, and helps class spirit, but there is such a thing as carrying competition too far.

The Dining Hall Deserves Praise

THE DINING HALL STAFF deserves much praise for the special birthday dinners it has inaugurated this year.

It takes time and energy to put on affairs of this sort, and the whole staff should be complimented on these extra efforts that are put forth in making the individual's birthday a real home-like affair. With candlelight and added attractions, it is quite a thrill to celebrate your added year at school.

In these days and times it is exceedingly hard to obtain the meats and delicacies we all like so much. The dietitian has her best in planning a balanced meal three times daily for Winnie Winthrop. It is human nature to complain — we all like to complain about something, but if it is possible let's try not to take it out on the dietitian when we don't have meat three times a day. On respective parents have a hard time too in securing meat and stand in lines to get a measly pound of bacon or other meat. We should give our full co-operation to the Dining hall staff.

The Dining hall chairman and committee gave much time in setting forth rules of etiquette last year. We put the etiquette rules and regulations in practice for a week and got splendid results. We are all likely to make slip ups at times—such as the disorder that took place when we entertained the members of the Clemson Tiger platoon. Other than this the behavior has been exceptionally good this semester.

By entertaining special guests such as distinguished speakers, we act more poised and become to feel more at ease around celebrities. When Governor Strom Thurmond was here, the Dining hall atmosphere was very smooth. We think it is a fine idea to have students sit at the guest table. It gives Winthrop girls a feeling of pride to see their fellow students well poised at the hostess table. It would be nice if every member of the student body could have the privilege of sitting at the guest table before she graduates.

It is good to have dress-up dinners, and the Uniform committee should enforce dress regulations. We have a tendency to become sloppy when we aren't required to dress formally. We need more social life here on the campus, and the entire atmosphere is highly improved at these various occasions.

Let's buckle down and dress properly for special dinners, follow rules of etiquette, and give the Dining hall staff praise in their extra efforts.—S.K.D.

Mid-Term Headaches

THEY'RE HERE AGAIN—those maddening mid-terms. For over a week now, suffering Winnies have withstood tests and more tests.

Mid-terms are never favorable on the campus, especially since they usually occur one after another, fast and furious, with little time left for doing other things.

The regular study habits of the students are brought to light during mid-terms. Those who haven't been preparing daily assignments all along are to be pitied. One reason girls come in this category is because they have no class discussion, no daily tests, or tests of any kind during the first six weeks, so they don't bother to study every day.

There is no doubt that it is hard to study daily when one can put off and put off until her one and only first semester test (mid-term) rolls around. Those students whose teachers require them to do some studying all along and frequently make check-ups are likely to have higher grades in their classes.

Chances are that a student is not in her best form the day of her mid-term, but it is too bad if that is the only grade she will get during the semester besides her final.

Regardless of all the pros and cons on the subject of mid-terms, the fact remains that they are here now—and in a big way.

Guides Named For Play Day

Winthrop college physical education majors who will serve as guides for the Winthrop Sports Play Day to be held Saturday, November 16, include Jean Blackmon, Sarah Hemingway, Dot Allen, Jo Ann Knox, Frances McKinney, "Tubby" Britton, Edith McCallum, Sara Maner, Dot Lee, and Ruth Anders.

Approximately 125 delegates are expected to attend. Seven schools are to be represented, including Lander, Coker, Limestone, Colverse, Erskine, Columbia, and Winthrop. The schedule of events cannot be completed until all the colleges have answered the question-

SGN Nets $100 Bond

Sigma Gamma Nu's fifth annual circus, held Saturday, November 2, netted profits enough to buy a $100 bond to be added to the collection of funds towards an eventual PE scholarship.

Despite the last minute decision to stage the circus inside the gym due to rain, approximately 300 students, dates, faculty members and town people witnessed the ringshow with Ringmaster "Tubby" Britton directing the acts.

A high light of the entertainment nairens sent to them recently.

Each college will send a representative to the business meeting Friday night, November 15, at which time complete plans will be formulated for the formation of the South Carolina Women's Athletic association. These plans will be officially adopted and officers will be elected. Bette Stribling, president of Winthrop's Athletic association is now serving as temporary chairman of SCWAA.

"LOOK INTO THE FUTURE"

It may be surprising to members of College and School faculties to know how few of them have looked sufficiently into the future to prepare for the distribution of their possessions when they are dead and gone.

The Trust Department of this financial stronghold has for a long period of years been authorized by the Federal Government to act in all judiciary matters as Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Guardian, Committee, etc.

Have you made your Will? Has it been made so long ago that it may be obsolete and not in keeping with present day conditions? A conference with the Trust Officer of this institution may be well worth while, and it will not obligate you in any way.
